Abstract

This paper presents the profile and competences for the European Dentist as approved by the General Assembly of the Association for Dental Education in Europe at its annual meeting held in Helsinki in August 2009. A new taskforce was convened to update the previous document published in 2005. The updated document was then sent to all European Dental Schools, ministries of health, national dental associations and dental specialty associations or societies in Europe. The feedback received was used to improve the document. European dental schools are expected to adhere to the profile and the 17 major competences but the supporting competences may vary in detail between schools. The document will be reviewed once again in 5 years time. Feedback to the newly published document is welcomed and all dental educators are encouraged to draw upon the content of the paper to assist them in harmonising the curriculum throughout Europe with the aim of improving the quality of the dental curriculum.

Welcome

Welcome to the web pages of the Association for Dental Education in Europe.

I thank you for your support of ADEE and our initiatives in the past and I invite you to join the ADEE family in our new mission statement "Learning together to improve oral health and quality of life".

To date, the milestones in the evolution of our organisation have been dependent on the participation of our dedicated ADEE membership. I am convinced that in the future the continuing active collaboration of our membership with other colleagues in the fields of education, oral health care, national educational policy and legislation will add to the strength of the voice of ADEE representing the Community of European Dental Educators!

Cecilia Christersson
ADEE President
