

DEPARTMENTAL COMPETITION IN ANATOMY, HISTOLOGY AND EMBRYOLOGY

ED 1st year

April 1, 2019

The Department of Anatomy, Histology and Embryology invites all students with a successful anatomy 1 examination to participate in the annual competition. The competition is composed of two consecutive sessions.

Only those students may continue in the 2nd round who have achieved at least 70% from the 1st round.

1ST ROUND: written, e-learning type test

THEORY QUESTIONS - simple and multiple choice questions

IDENTIFICATION OF SELECTED STRUCTURES - on morphological, histological and embryological images.

Topics of the 1st round: the complete subject matter of the 2nd semester (approximately 60 % Anatomy, 20 % Histology, 20 % Embryology)

Date: April 30 (Tuesday - Faculty day) between 8.00 and 9.30 (the exact time is to be announced)

Place: Digital Histology Laboratories

2ND ROUND

PIN TEST - identification of labelled structures on prosected specimen

Topics of the 2nd round: the complete subject matter of the 2nd semester

Date: during week 13. (May 6-10), the exact day/time is to be announced

Place: Anatomy Museum

The final result of the competition will be calculated from the summary of the two consecutive rounds.

Examination exemptions

Students achieving at least 80% from the 2nd round will be offered an examination mark excellent (5) while students achieving between 70 - 79.99% will be offered a mark good (4) and will be exempted from the semifinal examination.

The winners of the competition will be decorated with a diploma besides the examination exemptions.

Good luck with the preparations!

Dr. Andrea D. Székely
Associate Professor, Course Director