

Welcome to the Department of Anatomy, Histology and Embryology!

Dear Students,

It is our pleasure to greet you on our premises and hope that the semester is going to offer you a lot of interesting encounters as well as an ample body of new knowledge.

We all need to adapt to a new life responding to the pandemic situation, therefore, please, read the safety regulations (see below) thoroughly and make sure you comply with the rules at all times while in the university (or in the city).

Every time you enter the department your temperature will be taken. You will have to weekly fill in an online pretriage form to declare you are healthy and have not contacted sick people. It is your responsibility to honestly respond to those questions.

There is a limit in the seating capacity of our lecture halls, so in the Faculty of Medicine all lectures will be held online (please read the information on lectures below).

During the coming week you will start attending lectures and practical classes. On the very first day to visit the Anatomy department the group teachers of 1st year students will be waiting for their groups in the yard and you will proceed to the dissection room together.

I have composed a handbook containing all important pieces of information you should be aware of concerning studies and safety measures. Please download it and read it thoroughly. If you have questions, your teacher will be happy to answer.

We hope you will enjoy your time with us and wish you a successful semester!

Please keep safe and healthy!

Dr. Andrea D. Székely

Associate Professor

Course Director

