Dear Students!

In order to improve the epidemiological situation, the vaccination of Semmelweis citizens has also started in accordance with the current procedures of the National Center for Public Health (NNK).

I would like to draw your kind attention to the importance of responsible behavior required in the epidemiological situation that still exists. As a prospective physician or health professional, you are encouraged to set a good example to strengthen public confidence in medicine and healthcare.

Pursuant to §5 of the action plan for epidemiological preparedness applicable at Semmelweis University issued in the Rector's-Chancellor's Instruction No.E/21/2020 (XI.26.), I request prioritized compliance with the following.

From the moment of entering the campus, the use of a mask to cover nose and mouth is mandatory. Hand disinfection, completion of an online pre-triage or an entry form, and maintaining a social distance of 1.5 meters are also required. Refrain from assembling into groups. Those who do not have an exam should preferably not stay in university buildings.

Finally, let me underline that violation of the above regulations may result in sanctions.

Thank you for your compliance.
