

CELLENCE in medical education,
tion and healthcare

SEMMELWEIS UNIVERSITY

Faculty of General Medicine

Department of Urology

European Board of Urology certified department

Postal address: 1085 Budapest Üllői út 26.

1428 Budapest, Pf.2. Hungary

Head of Dept.: Péter Nyirády M.D.,D.Sc.,FEBU

Prof. Dr. Shahrokh Francis Shariat – laudation

Prof. Dr. Shahrokh F. Shariat received his MD degree at University of Vienna in 1998. His academic tract started in Baylor College of Medicine (Houston, TX, USA) as Postdoctoral Fellowship in Urological Oncology. He started his residency in the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, Dallas in 2002 and became chief resident there. He spent his fellowship in the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, New York between 2008 and 2010. He was appointed to become assistant later associate professor of Urology of Medical Oncology at Weil Cornell Medical College / New York- Presbyterian Hospital where he became director of the Urologic Oncology Fellowship Program and the Bladder Cancer Outcomes and Translational Research. Since 2013 Dr. Shariat was appointed to become professor and chairman of Urology on Medical University of Vienna. Parallel to his Austrian position he is adjunct and honorary professor in 6 other Universities.

His academic achievements counts over 1440 peer-reviewed and over 500 non-peer-reviewed research papers. His Scopus h-index: 109; number of citations: 47426, Google scholar h-index: 130; number of citations: 66427. He wrote 26 book chapters; more than 2000 abstracts at national and international meetings (available on request). He owns 4 patents, more than 80 national and international awards. Professor Shariat is member of 25 academic societies; Editorial board of 26 scientific journals.

Since 2013, Professor Shariat has active scientific and clinical collaborations with the Department of Urology at Semmelweis University that resulted 18 international publications, several academic and clinical exchange. He was invited speaker of the Semmelweis Symposium and several meetings of our Clinic.

Considering his very intense, fruitful and extensive relationships with our University, it is a great privilege for the Semmelweis University to award the title of Doctor Honoris Causa to Prof. Dr. Shahrokh Francis Shariat, thereby further extending our continuous collaborative research, clinical and educational efforts.