Our feedback on general comments by the students:

Compared to the faculty average, the Gerostomatology subject taught at the FSZOI scored higher on several questions. In the future, we are planning further learning enhancements. We would also like to develop teaching aids in the form of digital notes, which could be used to help in the learning of the theory during the exercises. We are also in the process of reorganising the practicals, and in the second semester of 2023/24 we have introduced a new system for teaching English, which has received a lot of positive feedback from students.
