

4/2. Behavioural Sciences Program; Dr. József Kovács Program Leader

Dr. Szilvia Ádám	Assesment of the relations between psychosocial and health-related stressors and chronic
Dr. György Bagdy	Psychosocial and inherited factors in depression and addiction
Dr. Piroska Balog	The examination of relationships and causal contexts of chronic stress (conjugal, social, work and infertility related) and the distressing, depressive symptoms and cardio-vascular diseases
Dr. Piroska Balog	The psychosocial, social-economic and lifestyle risk factors for the onset, progression and cure of major diseases (i.e. cardio-vascular, tumorous, psychiatric diseases) endangering public health
Dr. Róbert Bódizs	State-dependent and individual-specific patterns brain electrical activity in sleep - behavioural and clinical relevancies
Dr. Pál Czobor	Investigation of the efficacy of medication therapies based on real-world data in schizophrenic patients
Dr. Péter Gaál	New approaches in the Study of the Performance Management of Health Systems
Dr. Edmond Girasek	Motivational Factors and Their Effects On Planning of Human Resorces in the Heath Sector
Dr. Zsuzsa Gyórfy	The behavioural aspects of digital health
Dr. Zsuzsa Gyórfy	Stressors and coping, somatic and mental health among physicians and medical students
Dr. Anna Kelemen	The investigation of the relationship between the identification of health status/mental disorder of individuals suffering from cerebral paresis and their social integration
Dr. Eszter Kovács	"Borderless world" - Cross-border health care - the impact of mobility on health systems
Dr. Ilona Kovács	Cognitive, emotional and personality development as function of biological and chronological age in adolescents.
Dr. Ilona Kovács	Mapping the maturation of cortical functional connectivity in adolescents based on polisomnographic and fine motor movement data
Dr. Ilona Kovács	Investigation of the timemporal dynamics and equilbral state of visual perception in psychiatric disorders
Dr. Ilona Kovács	Objective behavioural assessment and cortical network correlates of human mental imagery
Dr. József Kovács	Health and bioethics
Dr. Imre Lázár	Medical anthropology: cultural and intercultural aspects of diseases and their treatment
Dr. István Mucsi	Factors associated with the health related quality of life of solid organ transplant recipients
Dr. István Mucsi	Psycho-social aspects of chronic medical cconditions
Dr. István Mucsi	Assessing depressive and anxiety symptoms using patient reported outcome measures
Dr. Dóra Perczel Forintos	Post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), trauma research
Dr. Dóra Perczel Forintos	Clinical aspects of mindfulness
Dr. Bettina Pikó	Study of youth's problem behavior and mental health based on the risk and protective theory
Dr. György Purebl	Prevention of depression and suicide: community and transcultural correlates
Dr. György Purebl	The potential role of animal-assisted therapies in clinical improvement and quality of life
Dr. Adrienne Stauder	Implementation of behavioral medicine interventions
Dr. Adrienne Stauder	Behavioral aspects of digital health
Dr. Orsolya Szalárdy	The impact of rhythmic acoustic sti,ulation onto the selective attention
Dr. Anna Szűcs	Neurological background of sleep and behavioural disorders
Dr. Péter Ujma Przemyslaw	The effects and features and daily events on the EEG recorded during sleep
Dr. Ágnes Zana	Medical anthropological analysis of health and disease
Dr. László Zubek	End-of-life decisions in medical practice