

ETHICAL DECLARATION

I, ... - as the undersigning student of the Semmelweis University, Faculty of Dentistry, declare that during my studies, I subject myself to the regulations concerning all the procedures of documentation, recording and examining listed below.

During my studies I will handle the human specimens with great respect and appreciate their dignity. I will respect all the laws and rules during animal experiments and will avoid any processes that might cause unnecessary pain and suffering to animals. I will keep adequate records on all my patients being treated during my training period and will observe all the rules and regulations concerning data protection. During my clinical practice I will encounter several important and confidential information (patients' personal data, confidential medical history or clinical status). I will keep all the secrets, handle them according to the laws of data protection and I will not disclose those to third party persons. Based on the above-mentioned rules, I understand that I will keep all the secrets, information and data that I learned about during my clinical practice and I will never reveal those to a third party person not involved in my dental and medical education. I understand that neither the patients' records treated during my training, nor any other objects or dental therapeutic devices produced by dental technical laboratory can be removed from the teaching clinic. I acknowledge that I am not allowed to treat any patient treated at the University during my studies in any other health care facility until the end of my studies, and I promise that the photo documentation and any other data obtained from my patients during my curriculum should not be transferred to other persons included my own classmates for unauthorized utilization. The documentation should only be used for the purpose of my education or research, and all the data after proper processing will either be discarded or will be kept under appropriate data protection.

If I am to use, during any forms of exams or presentations any intramural (books, lecture notes) or extramural (mandatory or suggested literature) sources for my works, I will observe all the formal and content requirements and will ensure to observe the liability and the copy right of the authors and will provide adequate citations. I understand that it is a plagiarism if any original author's text, part of the chapter, tables, figures and statistical analyses are cited without the proper notation of the source and the name of the author. It is also a plagiarism if the original authors' rephrased sentences are incorporated into another text without proper citation.

I acknowledge that I can only participate in the practices wearing the coats provided by the institutes, departments and clinics and that I am not allowed to take them away.

I accept that during my exams, I will respect all the rules and regulations inscribed in the University's Study and Examination Regulation and in the Departments' own regulations and policies. I will also behave according to the universal ethical codes and special requirements let me be known by my instructors or teachers.

I acknowledge that the use of unauthorized electronic or other aids during the examinations will invalidate the examination and may lead to ethics proceedings.
