An online seminar is scheduled to take place on Friday. During the online seminar, lectures are presented about the subfield of dentistry (primary diseases, main symptoms, diagnosis, and treatment). The lectures are available on the E-learning interface. Viewing online seminar lectures is mandatory for completing the subject. An online presence sheet registers the viewing.

The exam registration takes place on the Neptun system during the given educational week from 2 pm on Monday to 12 pm on Thursday. It is the student's responsibility to register for the exam.

The exam consists of two parts, a simple-choice test and an OSCE practical assignment. Both parts of the exam take place through the E-learning interface on Friday from 2 pm. to 4 pm. The grade is based on the results of the test exam. The result of the OSCE practical part does not contribute to the grade, but without completing the OSCE part, the exam is not considered successful. The OSCE part is considered successful, with the minimum points earned during this part.

The test part consists of 50 simple-choice questions to be answered within 60 minutes. The test questions will be based on the material from the online seminar. After completing the test, your score and grade will be visible on the exam platform. The tests are evaluated and grades determined as follows: 45-50 points is excellent, 40-44 points is good, 35-39 is average, 30-34 is sufficient, and below 29 is insufficient.

The assignment of the OSCE practical part is also available on Moodle platform. The OSCE part includes a medical situation and a series of simple-choice and multiple-choice questions related to the scenario. The OSCE part is available for 30 minutes. The OSCE part is considered successful if the minimum points (3 points) are earned. The points of the OSCE part do not contribute to the grade, but without completing the OSCE part, the exam is not considered successful.

Other study materials are available on the E-learning platform. Registration for the E-Learning Platform and access to the internet are the responsibility of the student.

Any changes relating to practices or study materials are notified through either the Neptun system or E-learning. However, the follow-up and timely receipt of Neptun or E-learning messages are the responsibility of the students.

Best regards,

Szófia Szentpéteri dr.
