Planned Measures based on student feedback on the autumn semester of the 2021/2022 academic year - Faculty of Dentistry
Department of Languages for Specific Purposes

The student feedback from the 2nd semester of 2021/2022 reflected the students’ satisfaction with the language teaching methods at our Institute. Regarding the feedback concerning "Hungarian language" courses the professional training of our instructors and their ability to adapt to the needs of students were much appreciated. Positive feedback was also received on the themes and structure of the lessons. Students at the English program rated us above the faculty average.

In general, students were also satisfied with the "Terminology" subject, with practical results above the faculty average for all questions. In the course evaluation version, the scores given to the questions are just below and above the faculty average. The point on the course material deviates most in the positive direction. The question about the organization of the course and the structure of the curriculum differs from the average in a negative direction. The solution to this problem is to make the course material and Moodle interface simpler and more didactic.
